1. LEARN - read “Don’t Even Think About It,” by George Marshall. For a summary, read Jock’s blog - <https://climateprotection.org/climate-denial-climate-change-global-crisis-no-one-talks/>

2. SUBSCRIBE to Inside Climate News, “...a Pulitzer Prize-winning, non-profit, non-partisan news organization dedicated to covering climate change, energy and the environment.” <https://insideclimatenews.org/>

Subscribe to the Center for Climate Protection bi-weekly newsletter <https://climateprotection.org>

3. TALK At least once a week engage at least one person (family, friend, colleague) in a conversation about climate change. To get a handle on our climate crisis, we have to talk about it with each other.

4. WRITE a letter to the editor drawing attention to the climate issue and the need for concerted action.

5. CALL your local and state elected officials when a bill promoting reduction of greenhouse gases is being considered.

6. ATTEND city council meetings and town hall meetings to speak up for climate-friendly programs and legislation.

7. CALCULATE your carbon footprint at www.carbotax.org.

8. RIDE your bike to work and on short trips around town. And be safe!

9. POWER your home with 100% local renewable energy. Visit <https://sonomacleanpower.org/your-options/evergreen/> or call 1-855-202-2139 for more information.

10. EAT less meat. This can reduce your carbon footprint more than reducing your driving.

11. BUY carbon offsets when you fly. www.climatecare.org/home.aspx

12. MARCH. Join in whenever there is a march drawing attention to the climate crisis.
